Our Edmonton Letter

By T. B. Windress

Edmonton, Alta. Oct. 23.—Political warfare in Alberta during the past week has been more or less static and disinteresting, although there have been a few enlivening incidents to keep the public from succumbing to ennui. The voice of Premier Aberhart has been heard roaring its oft-repeated defiance of the "financial hounds" who "bark and bite" since last this article was written, but that is getting to be an old tale by now.

Two very significant events, however, took place in connection with the government's record which are worth mention. One was the surrender of the premier to popular outcry when on Thursday he about faced from his refusal to reveal the text of the Lunney Commission report on the highway inquiry. The report of Mr. Justice Lunney revealed disgraceful incompetence and wasteful expenditure of the public funds in connection with the administration of the public works department. It revealed that the province, aside from the above matters had been deprived of the benefit of more than $100,000 for its roads because Hon. W. A. Fallow failed to meet the conditions that could have been met, which were laid down by the dominion government.

It now remains to be seen how consistent Premier Aberhart is going to be in his method of dealing with his cabinet ministers. When, in his opinion Mr. W. N. Chant, then minister of agriculture, did not show sufficient "aggressiveness and efficiency" he was invited in the most autocratic manner to resign. Now, Mr. Fallow has been declared guilty of incompetence and neglect in his department by a more competent judge than Premier Aberhart. What will the Premier do?

The second event of interest was the preliminary trial of G. F. Powell, expert adviser, of the Aberhart government, and of J. H. Unwin, government whip in the legislature, on charges of seditious libel, knowing it to be false and of counselling to murder. The hearing was held before Magistrate A. H. Gibson in the Edmonton police court and both men were committed on the evidence presented to appear at the next sitting of the criminal supreme court on November 8.

Evidence given by Unwin in the trial of Powell showed that he had received the "copy" of the pamphlet complained of, entitled "Bankers' Toodles" and counselling to "Exterminate them", from Mr. Powell, thus connecting the English expert with the case.

Matters relating to the three bills now before the Ottawa cabinet for disposal are not complete at the time this is written, but it is clear that the dominion government has been bombarded with letters from individual Social Crediters, demanding that "Alberta be left alone." On the other hand large numbers of public bodies have written to the Ottawa government demanding that Alberta be dealt with as a part of the Dominion of Canada and not as "left alone."

One of the acts to which the provincial government seeks assent is in complete defiance of the dominion since it says that it is a bill "to amend and consolidate the Credit of Alberta Regulation act," and in its last section it provides for the "repeal of the Credit of Alberta Regulation act," whereas there is no such act which can be amended or consolidated or repealed,—the dominion government disallowed that act and it therefore does not exist.

Much interest is being taken in the action of the dominion with regard to the press act, which would place the press of Alberta under the thumb of the provincial government with power given an inexperienced person,—chairman of the Social Credit board, who by the way also was to have a large share of supervision over banks and banking under provisions of another bill. Certainly, one would think this man would be delighted to get out from under, if the government's bills do not get past Ottawa!

If the dominion refuses to give assent to this act it would be as a matter not of the act being ultra vires, but because it is against public policy—in violation of one of the primary fundamental rights and rules of British freedom, even though that rule and those rights are not written in the constitution.

But the main question is and will be for some time: When will there be an election? Only Premier Aberhart and the Deity know. If the government of Alberta was to act by the rules that have always held in political affairs and in the affairs of British government for generations and these carried any weight with the premier, his resignation would be in the hands of the lieutenant-governor forthwith, but he has demonstrated beyond any shadow of doubt that he is more concerned in hanging onto power and position than in observing the traditions of British custom and respect.

It is safe to say there will be no election now because the much advertised Blue Pledges, are not coming in in sufficient numbers to warrant expectations of victory at the polls,—this despite the Sunday announcements of the Premier who it is to be noted does not now give the figures in connection with the Blue Pledges sent in. That is significant.

The Taber and Barwell districts are cleaning up their beet harvest this week, some of the dumps expecting to close down this week-end. It will not take many more days of fine weather to see the harvest completed all over the beet growing area.

TRUCKER INJURED

Ted Campbell, who recently moved here from Hill Spring, met with a serious though fortunate accident Saturday night on the Waterton Glacier highway, when his truck load of logs got out of control, and he crashed into some trees practically demolishing his truck and breaking his nose, three ribs, and otherwise damaging the unfortunate victim.

He had just previously purchased a truck from King Motors and went to the woods for a load. He topped a long hill, when his lights went out. In trying to fix them, his truck gained such momentum with the heavily loaded trailer behind it that his brakes were useless. He came down the hill guessing his course, until he hit the trees pushing the cab off the track and strewing his load along the highway.

He lay partly dazed for a while, and when he recovered he had to go eight miles for help and as soon as his condition was discovered he was rushed to the Cardston hospital, where he is doing as good as can be expected.

Beet Harvest Soon Finished

Beet harvest is moving along rapidly toward the finish. The beautiful weather of the past two or three weeks has been made to order for this work, and growers have been making the best of it to get the golden roots out of the ground and stored away from frost and storm. Officials estimate the total yield at over 240,000 tons, which will give an average of just over 12 tons per acre for the entire district.

The end of the week will see 90 p.c. of the crop harvested, and the whole tonnage, with the exception possibly of 12 p.c. delivered to the Factories. The co-operation between the Company and the growers, has as usual been of the most satisfactory type, and despite the rush, and the unusually heavy deliveries, the growers have received splendid service at the dumps and have been able to get back to their fields quickly for additional loads. The yards at the local factory contained about 40,000 tons of stored beets at the first of the week, and all the spurs and sidings were full of car beets. Picture Butte's storage is approximately the same. It begins to look as though the run would continue into January at the local mill and this too in spite of the fact that a daily average of 1,300 tons has been maintained since the mill commenced.

The checks will be mailed the first of the week for the beets delivered up to October 15 and the total will reach close to half a million dollars, which in addition to wheat returns for the year, makes a nice melior for the farmers of Southern Alberta to divide up.

Threshing is finished, and the end of the present week, with the prevailing good weather, will find the beet harvest well on toward the end. Some small patches are completed now, and the larger growers will have considerable acreage left, but every day sees many thousands of tons of beets lifted and hauled to the factory or loading stations. Weather has been just about as near perfect as possible for the beet harvest.

The Genealogical Committee had the program in the 2nd ward church Sunday evening last. Seakers were; Rulon Dahl on the "Progressions and Retrogressions of mankind on earth," L. H. Jacobs, "Education and Achievement of peoples on the American Continent in the remote past," J. L. Gibb who spoke on "Legends and Beliefs of Ancient Indian Races regarding Religion." A vocal solo by Myra Dahl and a trumpet solo "The Nephite Lamentation" by Paul Redd with anthems by the choir made a very enjoyable evening. J. T. Steele, stake and Genealogical Chairman spoke very briefly at the close of the meeting.

Local Rotarians gathered in the United Church last Monday for the first noon day luncheon the Outpost has held for sometime. The Ladies Aid served a very delicious meal, and after short preliminaries, Byron Tanner rendered two vocal numbers, and then N. S. Stoltz, Rotarian of the Lethbridge Club, and past District Governor gave a very interesting talk on the history and framework of the Rotary, tracing its growth in 52 years from 4 business men who used to meet in one another's offices once a week for a talk and an exchange of ideas, to a world wide organization of 4,500 clubs, with a membership of 185,000. New clubs were being formed now at the rate of more than one a day, and throughout the world good Rotarians were good citizens, and generally leaders in their communities. He read the list of Rotary officers to show the International aspect of the organization, & urged the local men, interested in Rotary to keep it going, despite the obstacles that may arise, because everyone would be bigger and better men through the Rotary.

Next week's meeting will be at 7 p. m. in the Town Hall. A special program is being arranged for this meeting.

MICHEL HAS COSTLY FIRE SUNDAY

490 miners in the Crow's Nest Pass were thrown out of work Sunday when the tipples, boiler rooms and wash bins of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Co.'s workings were destroyed by fire. The loss may total one million dollars before the five in the slack coal is finally brought under control. One $250,000 boiler house was just about completed. The C. P. R. train was delayed 1½ hours while a spur was built around the debris clogging the track. The highway was also choked for some time and the bus held up. An effort will be made to keep the mine working and make a temporary arrangement for a tippie while rebuilding.

The night watchman noticed the blaze about 2:30 and sounded the alarm, all the miners on shift in the mine coming up, and a volunteer brigade responding at once, but the blaze had made such headway that all they could do was protect the other buildings and property. It is believed an overheated boiler started the blaze.

THE LOOKING GLASS OF THE DISTRICT

All arguments to the contrary, the weekly newspaper furnishes a decided need in every community. When a stranger comes into a town and wants to size it up the first thing he does is obtain a copy of the local paper to see the lineup of businesses etc. Every year we have many inquiries from out of town by interested people for copies of the paper, frequently with this statement, "We are looking for a new location and have heard about your town."

Into surrounding towns and cities goes the Recorder, to the editorial desks of several of the dailies, with the news and views of the district. To the business men might we say, that aside from the direct value of your dollar in advertising, you render an indirect benefit to the Town and the community by making a better picture of the Town to the casual reader of the paper. After all the success of any district is the combined success of those who make up the district. A booster is possibly the greatest asset any community can have, and every advertisement that appears in the Recorder is boosting the Town and the district, the place where we are educating our children, and the place where we hope to see opportunities develop that these children may make their homes near the mother and dad, and find a town and community with all the comforts, conveniences and enjoyments of present day civilization.

That these things are worth while none will deny. That they can be had has been proven repeatedly by other districts near and far. That we can and will have them is a foregone conclusion. But, it requires the combined effort and boosting of every good citizen to get them. Are you ready to do your part?

Just a word or two about our clubbing offers. The fact that you have a certain magazine paid up for some time yet, need make no difference at all. The publishers will simply advance your subscription a year from the expiration date, upon receipt of your clubbing offer with this paper.

We believe that your dollar will go farther in the purchase of reading material by taking

We do not want to be accused of plagiarism but we cannot resist the temptation to lift three paragraphs from the speech of a layman because we believe he says things which should be said often and moreover he says them with such conviction and clarity that we doubt if we could say them as well ourselves. Then, to, may we repeat, he is a layman, not a doctor.

Here is what he said—
"See your doctor at the first sign of trouble. See him promptly. Today there is much that medical science is able to do in the prevention of serious complications. Delay is an open invitation to unnecessary suffering and permanent disability."

"With the help of modern scientific equipment, with a fund of co-ordinated medical and surgical knowledge, undreamed of even by our grandfathers, your doctor can PREVENT diseases that were once supposed to be the natural heritage of mankind. He can CURE diseases which were once unqualifiedly labeled 'fatal.'"

"But he can do these things only with your cooperation. To get his help you must seek it. The better he knows you, the more he can do for you. That is why it is short-sighted and wasteful to wait until an emergency compels you to see him. Regular health examinations are not costly, they are economical. They reveal to the one man who can help you—the weak spots in your health armour which need strengthening. See your doctor before he has to see you."

Self diagnosis and self medication gambles with health and maybe with life. When our watch needs attention, or our car or our furnace we call skilled mechanics to our service. So why trifle with our greatest possession, the human body. Fortunate indeed is the man who has a family physician whom he trusts and to whom he and his family may go regularly to seek advice and counsel on how to maintain that most priceless of all possessions, good health.

Questions concerning Health addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

MANY ACCIDENTS OCCUR AT NIGHT

Warning of the dangers of night driving and the need of using every precaution in the interests of safety, is fitting at this season.

It has been estimated that nearly 60 per cent of all motor fatalities occur at night.

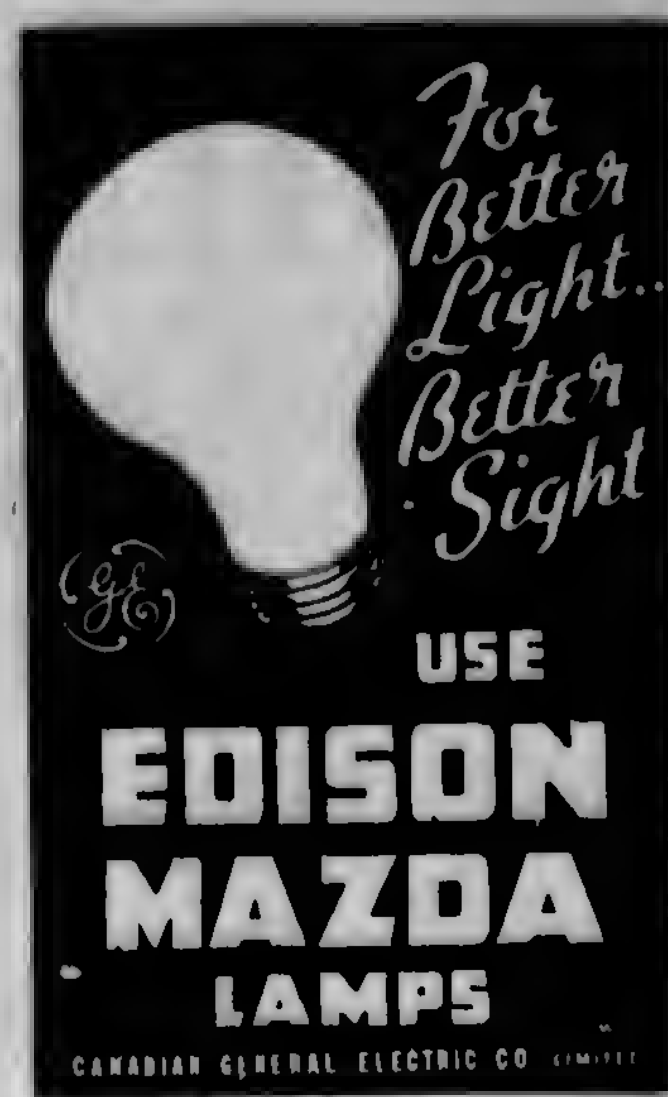

It is a well known fact that the night accidents are the serious ones. As a matter of fact, official studies have revealed that one accident in 20 which occurs at night is fatal, compared with a ratio of one in 40 for daylight accidents.

At this time it is well to have headlights and other car equipment thoroughly tested, according to officials of the Alberta Motor Association.

Taking of proper precautions at this time may well mean the avoidance of troubles later on.

Reduction of the accident toll in this province should be given every heed at this time. Special care on the part of motorists will serve to bring about this desired improvement.

Campaigns for safe driving are all having beneficial results but a fundamental factor after

CANADIAN YOUTH TRAINING

Project "D". - is a project for the occupational and vocational training of unemployed young men and women between the ages of 18 and 30, and also provides for reconditioning and refresher courses. A survey is being made through the mail at the present time, addressed to all employers of labor requesting assistance by answers to a questionnaire regarding present requirements, future requirements, possible opportunities, etc. for placing students as apprentices. According to plans now under way the youth will be given a preliminary "try-out" period of from 1 to 6 weeks in which to find themselves. This preliminary training will give them the opportunity to select, with the assistance of the Supervisor, the particular vocation in which they are interested. This project provides for 400 youth, and provision is also made whereby a contribution will be made towards the maintenance of non-residents during this preliminary period, where such assistance is necessary. Further arrangements will be made to offer about 5,000 weeks of instruction in industry for students who show the greatest aptitude for specific trades.

Schedule "E". - A project under the direction of the Department of Agriculture for the training of young men as follows:

1. The placing of 140 youths on farms under the supervision of district agriculturists.

2. The placing of 15 youths on fur farms under the supervision of the game commissioner of the province.

3. The placing of 10 youths on poultry farms under the supervision of the Provincial Poultry Commissioner.

4. The placing of 5 youths in creameries to set as helpers. In each of the above plans the student as trainee will be allowed $10.00 per month and the farmer, as employer to whom they are apprenticed, will receive $10.00 per month.

5. The placing of 40 youths in the schools of agriculture to take a course especially arranged for such students.

The above five projects are for urban (town) youth.

6. The placing of 30 rural youth, to be selected from the drouth area, for training at Olds and Vermilion Schools of Agriculture. These students will enter the regular classes and are allowed $30.00 per month for fees and maintenance.

The supervisors in charge of the several projects are as follows:

Project "A". - Donald Cameron, Acting Director, Dept. of Extension, University of Alberta.

Project "B". - J. A. Hutchison, Forestry Branch, Department of Lands and Mines, Provincial Government.

Project "C". - Dr. W. G. Carpenter, Principal, Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary, Alberta.

Project "D". - Joe H. Ross, Principal, Western Canada High School, Calgary.

Project "E". - H. A. Craig, Deputy Minister of Agriculture Provincial Government.

YOUR LITTLE SAVINGS... FINANCE MORTGAGE LOANS

TENS of thousands of Canadian farms and homes benefit from first mortgage loans made possible by the accumulated savings of Life Insurance policyholders.

For every borrower, there are six thrifty people who supply the necessary funds.

This fact affords a striking illustration of the "double duty" performed by Life Insurance dollars. Not only do they ensure financial security for the men, women and children of Canada, but they also help to build and finance their farms and homes.

Life Insurance companies exercise the greatest care in the selection of properties upon which mortgage loans are made. To safeguard the savings of policyholders, security of principal and interest is and must always be the first consideration.

WEEKLY LETTER

SUGGESTIONS TO PROSPECTIVE CATTLE FEEDER

With the prices of feeder cattle at a higher level than they have been for several years some feeders may hesitate to venture into cattle feeding this year. However, for those who are entering into the business, and especially those who are doing it for the first time, a few facts from the feeding experiments at the Lethbridge Experimental Station may be of some value. For a number of years cattle feeding experiments were conducted at the Lethbridge Station and while the figures which will be presented in this weekly letter are average figures, they form a basis for determining the amount of feed which should be on hand for each head of cattle.

Calves hand fed a ration of alfalfa hay and grain made a daily gain of 1.95 pounds and required 390 pounds of hay and 451 pounds of grain for each 100 pounds of gain made. However, to show the fluctuation from year to year it may be pointed out that the highest hay requirement per 100 pounds of gain was 451 pounds and the lowest was 339 pounds, whereas the grain requirements for the same two years were 404 pounds and 461 pounds respectively. This indicates that with an increase in hay consumption a relative decrease in consumption of grain results. This same principle applies in self-feeding of grain in which it was found that only 229 pounds of hay but 518 lbs. of grain were required per 100 pounds of gain.

For these calves approximately 400 pounds of grain were required for finishing. For yearlings the amount of grain required for finishing was approximately 200 pounds and the same for two-year-olds. Both these latter classes of stock required a much higher proportion of hay in relation to grain with the figures for yearlings 1177 lbs. of hay and 587 pounds of grain per 100 pounds of gain, and for two-year-olds 1568 pounds of hay and 571 pounds of grain.

With the smaller amount of gain required for finishing yearlings and two-year-olds a shorter feeding period is required and this is a factor which many feeders consider in their feeding operations. In calf feeding approximately six to seven months are required for the finishing period whereas for yearlings and two-year-olds three to four months will usually suffice.

Barley and wheat constitute very satisfactory finishing feeds with oats being most desirable only for starting the cattle on feed until they become accustomed to eating grain after which oats should not constitute more than 1-3 of the grain ration and preferably even less than this proportion.

BUSINESS SUMMARY

Prairie Provinces —Business conditions during September were generally satisfactory in Manitoba and Alberta and moderate improvements were noticeable in some districts of Saskatchewan. Foods products are moving in steady volume. Hardware business is holding up well except in Saskatchewan, where sales are at a lower level than last year. Reports from districts indicate that seasonal demand or winter requirements has stimulated the sale of clothing and footwear lines. Retail business in Alberta is inclined to be slow for this season of the year while in parts of northern Saskatchewan and Manitoba trade has been moderately active. In manufacturing most industries are well employed and the output is slightly higher than a year ago. There has been a fairly good demand for mining equipment. Flour mills are actively engaged and packing plants are busy. Wheat prices in the Winnipeg Grain Exchange have shown wide fluctuations. Ash wheat closed on the 20 instant at $1.48 7-8. Cattle deliveries have been fairly liberal and prices for most classes have receded. The hog market has displayed an easier tendency and the price for hogs is lower. Bank of Montreal monthly letter.

have been very popular and both these feeds constitute excellent additions to the ration. Beet pulp is usually self-fed and in some cases this applies to molasses as it has a highly laxative effect.

Various mimeographed circulars are available at the Lethbridge Experimental Station regarding feeding results and the use of beet pulp in the ration and can be obtained on request.
